Without the active partition of the TLS members, Governing Council (GC) and the Secretariat, this Strategic Plan 2020-24 would not have been in place. TLS is very grateful to all whose inputs are embedded in this strategic plan. In particular TLS acknowledges the tireless efforts led by Mr. Kaleb Lameck Gamaya and the Management Team that includes Mr. John Mwang'ombola, Mr. Alphonse Gura, Ms. Magdalena Mlolere, Ms. Mariam Othman, Mr. Stephen Msechu and Mr. Selemani Pingoni, the entire members of the Secretariat who were part of the process. 1. Introduction

The Tanganyika Law Society (TLS) is the Bar association of Tanzania Mainland. TLS was founded in 1954 by an Act of the Legislative Assembly i.e. the Tanganyika Law Society Ordinance 1954. The Tanganyika Law Society is currently governed by the Tanganyika Law Society Act, Cap 307 R.E. 2002, which repealed the earlier legislation and has been amended from time to time. Section 4 of the TLS Act provides for wide range of TLS objectives which include the inward looking objectives and the outward looking mandate,

1.1 Mandate on TLS Membership

- to represent, protect and assist members of the legal profession in Tanzania as regards conditions of practice and otherwise;
- to maintain and improve the standards of conduct and learning of the legal profession in Tanzania;
- to facilitate the acquisition of legal knowledge by members of the legal profession.

1.2 Mandate to the Tanzanian Public

- to protect and assist the public in Tanzania in all matters touching, ancillary or incidental to the law;
- to maintain and improve the standards of conduct and learning of the legal profession in Tanzania;
- to facilitate the acquisition of legal knowledge by others.

1.3 Mandate to the Tanzanian Government and Judiciary

- to assist the Government and the Courts in all matters affecting legislation, and the administration and practice of the law in Tanzania;
- to maintain and improve the standards of conduct and learning of the legal profession in Tanzania;

1.4 Mandate in TLS Self-Sustainability

- to acquire, hold, develop or dispose of properties of all kinds, whether movable or immovable, and to derive capital or income from them, for all or any of the foregoing objects;
- to raise or borrow money for all or any of the foregoing objects in any manner and upon any security which may from time to time be determined by the Society;
- to invest and deal with moneys of the Society not immediately required in any manner which may from time to time be determined by the Society;
- to do all other things which are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the foregoing objects or any of them.

TLS have focused on strategies to enhance and expand the business operations, build business linkages with Key Stakeholders and improve its sustainability by developing the Strategy Plan (SP) 2020-24 and its Strategic Action Plan (SAP) 2020-22.

2. Approach and Methodology

This strategy was developed by TLS through phases one to six while phases seven and eight will be the actual implementation of the strategy as illustrated by the diagram below:

To make this possible TLS made use of various methods in order to ensure thoroughness, wider consultations, participation and inclusiveness of all key stakeholders and review of various documents.

TLS therefore initially did an evaluation of the previous plan and assessed the level of satisfactions by members of the services issued by their bar society. The preliminary evaluation report was submitted to the Annual General Meeting for more inputs. Later it was validated by the TLS GC.

Eventually, the preliminary stages of the actual planning were marked by series of brainstorming sessions and a Strategy Planning Workshop for Senior Staff which gave them sufficient time to reflect on the nature of TLS and its current set up and focus on the strategies carried out by the organization with a view to improve performance.

The said session was followed by other Working Group of the Management Staff, who worked on refining the Strategic Action Plan 2020-22 and provide the much needed “paradigm shift” from the traditional activities that were carried out by TLS to embrace a much more participatory approach between the Secretariat and the Chapter Members.

Later in order to ensure ownership and prepare the members and chapters on the areas for Implementation once the document will be approved. Following the said meetings often a small Taskforce team was formed to review the draft plan and incorporate participant’s inputs while as well preparing a Budget.

Additional inputs and validation of the plan was also made by the Chapter leaders; the Governing Council (GC) and later an overview of the plan was presented to the membership during the Half Annual General Meeting (HAGM).

Validation of the plan was made in the chapters as the final steps for getting inputs through series of workshops organized at Chapter level across the country. This was to enhance the ownership among Chapter Members as well as to finalise the planning process. The final version was validated and adopted by the Governing Council in October 2019.

Following the approval, the Secretariat will work closely with all Chapters either through their Zones or individually to start setting up the infrastructure and resources needed for proper and successful implementation of the plan.

Initially the implementation will include having in a new organization structure, appropriate staffing levels with the right competencies after carrying out a workload analysis and assessing the competence of the current staff. A careful review of the compensation and benefits package will be determined to ensure attraction and retention of the right talent in line with market rates. In addition, TLS will embark on enhancing its organization culture and brand visibility at the Head Office and Chapter level to make its impact felt across its programmes in the country.

In addition, a thorough review of its business processes and procedures will be carried out to ensure compliance by all the Members and Staff in order to bring about the discipline and change in organization culture. Other initiatives will be to carry out a proper stocktaking of the policies and regulations that are available versus those that are required; meeting various development partners in order to request funds and later officially start implementation of the strategic and action plans from January 2020.

One of the major weaknesses of the Strategy Plan 2014-19, is that it had many wordy statements with no metrics attached to it. There were no real indicators and the implementation of activities were rather to do with a business as usual approach which necessitated the Management to frame appropriate indicators to measure performance.

The table above shows that a number of issues were achieved and some challenges were encountered, but grater part can still be done since there were no benchmark targets set to ensure that there are clear outcomes of the activities.

To improve on performance of the organization at Head Office and Chapter level, TLS embarked on a new Strategy Plan 2020-24 and the Strategic Action Plan 2020-22 to ensure they are fully implemented at all levels and bring about the desired impact.

5. Key Priorities for Tanganyika Law Society

6. Theory of Change

(To insert a Picture with Slogan – Hands with (Priority areas and Core Values) / Highlight the need to empower the Chapters)

TLS's vision and mandate determines its Theory of Change (ToC). The nature of TLS given by its statutory objectives requires that TLS balances its modus operandi in order to be in a position to effectively discharge its mandate and realize its vision.

As a statutory professional membership body, TLS is always faced with a temptation of being an introvert institution. However, the setting and context through which TLS operates would be suicidal if TLS would fall in a trap of becoming an absolute inward looking – i.e. only taking care of its Members' welfare rather than striving to assert its relevance to Tanzanian society i.e. to both duty bearers and rights holders. TLS therefore believes that its survival and sustainability will only be guaranteed if the rights holders and duty bearers will always see the value added by TLS, its relevance and contribution to the juridical, socio-economic and political development in Tanzania.

This means that TLS will first position itself in a manner that will ensure enhancement of its internal systems and structures; smart and strategic resource mobilization; and improvement of its human resource competence and financial soundness in order to first and foremost take care of its Member's welfare and empower the members with relevant skills and expertise that will enable them to make strategic and meaningful interventions to issues (as the case may be) in relation to duty bearers and rights holders. In this regard, the TLS has adopted a systemic devolution by decentralized which will see deepening of TLS presence in the chapters and most of its intervention will be implementable from TLS chapters countrywide. These chapters will be clustered in zones in order to enhance coordination.³TLS shall formulate and implement a devolution/decentralization policy which will be gazetted and become binding to TLS in order to preserve the integrity of TLS as a whole entity hence mitigating the risks of secession or disintegration of TLS into several organisations based on its chapters and zones. As a result, TLS activities will be implemented by the TLS membership and the TLS services will become more accessible and closer to the public. In doing so, the Chapters will also have the opportunity to work with Stakeholders at the local level and bring a more visible impact by addressing the issues at stake. This approach will enable the rights holders (having been empowered by TLS) to sustainably demand for their rights from the duty bearers.

For that case TLS will essentially be invoking the rights based approach to development as both its core theory of change and a sustainability/survival strategy. It will have a fully participatory approach in engaging with all the Key Stakeholders in all activities and promote a more harmonized and aligned manner of working to achieve its set objectives. The diagram below illustrates the TLS theory of change:

³TLS will have chapters in all regions of Tanzania that will be clustered in 7 zones. There will be amendment of the law in order to safeguard the integrity of TLS and enhance equitable representation of its members to all of its decision making organs.

TLS' theory of change is informed and shaped by both internal and external contexts. TLS is not an NGO but a statutory membership professional body that has unique, comparative and competitive statutory role exercising its mandate and responsibilities as provided by its establishing Legislation to promote rule of law, democracy and good governance. TLS is guided by the following theories:

- If TLS is primarily a membership association, therefore it is the membership that owns, decides and drives TLS. For that reason, the quality of TLS members ultimately determines the TLS Capacity to be, capacity to do and capacity to relate and realization of its vision;
- If TLS' Vision is to become an independent bar association for a just society then it must primarily empower its members and strengthen its internal institutional systems, structures and processes;
- If TLS resources are available, increased and diversified then its ability to deliver professional services and products to all its stakeholders becomes more sustainable;
- If TLS will map its stakeholders and coordinate its allies, mobilize its supporters, engage the rivals and inform its opponents strategically, then its capacity to relate will be revitalised and base for solidarity becomes strengthened;
- If the members will adequately be empowered and the institution be well strengthened, then it will enhance both its capacity to empower the rights holders and its ability to effectively engage the duty bearers;
- If TLS through its diverse membership throughout the country, wants to effectively empower the public on their legal rights and responsibilities, then TLS will need to embed & implant devolution and decentralize its powers and interventions to its Chapters making them agents of change and transformation at the grassroots level for social-economic justice;
- If TLS decentralization becomes successful, then level of democracy is increased and the need for empowerment with strengthened coordination of TLS Chapters will be more visible and necessary;
- If TLS wants its Chapters to be effectively coordinated, then clustering of Chapters and formation of TLS Zones will be necessary in order to facilitate and coordinate Chapter activities and bring about alignment of TLS across the country;
- If TLS through its empowered Chapters will effectively empower the Public then members of the Public will be able to understand, protect and preserve their rights and duties in a more sustainable way hence guaranteeing its relevance, recognition and reputation to its Stakeholders;
- Where there are challenges facing rule of law, if TLS has roots and good relations with its wide range of stakeholders then it will be among the safeguards to TLS;

- If TLS Members are empowered to act professionally, guided by TLS values then its engagement with State will be meaningful, credible and relevant as it will be doing the right things in the right way;
- If TLS is doing its right things in the right way it will be a credible and reputable institution in the presence of its Members, Public, Development Partners and the State.

Therefore, TLS will be responsive and accountable to fulfil, deliver and discharge its obligations to the concerned Stakeholders in tackling corruption, money laundering, organized crimes and promoting good governance including but not limited to rule of law, access to justice, electoral justice, freedom of expression and association, diversity management, social cohesion, economic justice, etc.

The following is a trend analysis on the income and expenditure for TLS that depicts the sustainability of the TLS Operations.

The TLS statistics are showing that members Contributions/annual fees and the CLS fees constitute more than 60% of the TLS income. This factor distinguishes TLS from any such not for profit institution giving it an ever increasing revenue emanating from its ever growing number of members annually. This is one of strong indicators of the sustainability and consistency of TLS flow of income to finance the implementation of its activities and projects as indicated in this strategic plan.

9. Stakeholder Analysis

For TLS to be successful in executing its Strategy Plan, it will need the full support at all levels; from Members, Governing Council, Executive Committees and Chapters. TLS cannot work alone, it needs to be aligned with the expectation of its internal and external Stakeholders and Partners.

A stakeholder can be of different types, Government, influencers, users (Members), Development Partners and Media Houses. As one of the strategies, it's very importance to have a strategic partnership in the organization so as to get an opportunity to grow the membership base and reach all who need TLS's services and develop the organization. By having Stakeholders on board, the Stakeholders should also know what they are expecting from us, what we expect from the stakeholder and where do we both collaborate.

One of the primary functions of TLS Stakeholders, is to provide resources to a business when it needs them most, not just large sums of money but they typically do offer a certain monetary commitment to businesses asking for their support and mostly their advice. A stakeholder may be actively involved in an organization's work, affected by the its outcome, or in a position to affect the organization's success. TLS's Stakeholders are either internal part of an organization's, or external, such as customers, service providers or members.

9.1 Stakeholder Analysis of Public Sector

TLS has a good relationship currently with the Government of the United Republic of Tanzania and will continue to build a mutually beneficial partnership with the Government Ministries, Departments and Agencies (MDAs).

A few of the MDAs that are directly responsible for Professional Legal Practice such as the Judiciary, Ministry of Constitutional and Legal Affairs (MoCLA), etc., will play a greater part in working with TLS to assist in strengthening and promoting access to justice. Another key Partner for the legal process is the Parliament, Attorney General's Chambers, Universities with Schools or Faculty of Law, Law School and other relevant institutions.

Some of the MDAs such as the Ministry of Home Affairs (Police, Prisons, Immigration), etc., President's Office – Regional Administration and Local Government (PO-RALG), etc., will continue to have a key role in implementing the priorities of the Government especially in furthering Legal Aid to the citizens. (See Appendix 05: Detailed Stakeholder Analysis – Public Sector)

9.2 Stakeholders Analysis of Private Sector / Service Providers

TLS at the moment has a fairly good number of members in its database and will continue to strengthen its Membership Drive and build good relations with other key partners such as the media houses, corporate firms, financial institutions and various service provider. The entire business community across the country need to have better legal systems. (See Appendix 06: Detailed Stakeholder Analysis – Private Sector / Service Providers)

9.3 Stakeholders Analysis of Civil Society Organisations / Non-Governmental Organizations / Associations

Given the status accorded to TLS, the Society engages with a wide range of Civil Society Organization (CSOs), Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs), Faith Based Organizations (FBOs), Community Based Organizations (CBOs), Trade Unions and other relevant Paralegal Organizations that work with communities and grass-root levels. (See Appendix 07: Detailed Stakeholder Analysis – Civil Society Organisations / Non-Governmental Organizations / Associations)

9.4 Stakeholders Analysis of Clients / Development Partners

TLS is grateful for the support received from various Clients, Local and International Professional Associations and Development Partners. Much is to be done to extend awareness and Continuous Legal Education (CLE) training to its Members both Individuals and Law Firms. These programs need to be extended to the Chapters or Zones across Tanzania Mainland as well as with its counter-part in Zanzibar, which will need additional resources to make it a success. (See Appendix 08: Detailed Stakeholder Analysis – Clients / Development Partners)

9.5 Stakeholder Analysis of Media / Publicity Partners

Given the key role played by the Main Media and Social Media, TLS has to strengthen its partnerships with a few of them and will continue to explore common ground to grow the awareness of TLS's goods and services for the deepening of legal aid in Tanzania Mainland. (See Appendix 09: Detailed Stakeholder Analysis – Media / Publicity Partners)

10.3 Strategic Action Plan 2020-22 Budget

The TLS Strategic Action Plan 2020-22 will have a Budget that will cater to the short (2020) and mid-term plans. The Mid-term plan (2020-22) will be geared to the Transformation and Change Management process that will ensure the institution gets a firm foundation. This will enable all the other Strategies to have a robust footing as TLS transforms itself into a more state-of-the-art organization in keeping with global trends capable of serving the region. The Long-term strategy (2023-24) will focus on carrying the agenda forward with an option to review, revise and update the next SAP 2023-25.

See Appendix 02: Budget for 2020-24 / (Detailed Budget is attached in a separate file)

11. Risk Mitigation Strategies

For this Strategic Action Plan 2020-22 to be implemented with minimum setbacks, it is important to take stock of the current business environment in which TLS operates, the availability of all types of resources such as financial status, staff competence, ICT systems, etc.

TLS has been operating on a semi-formal basis and as such, has a number of weak systems that need to be reviewed and upgraded. The current General Council, the Executive Committees, Management Team and the Members at Chapter level have acknowledged the challenges and have taken upon themselves the task of transforming the entire organization and fix the different issues as they come up.

Below are some of the key challenges that need to be addressed and have been rated as High or Critical. In both situations there is a need to address such issues immediately with Critical issues taking a precedence.

NO.	KEY AREA	TYPE OF RISK	CHALLENGE	MITIGATION STRATEGY
1	Member Experience: It is about the entire engagement with a potential Member or a fully active Member. The next step is to ensure that the Member continues to stay with the institution as there are many retention strategies implemented.	High	The current experience of the Members is good and there is still room for improvement. Although some of the business areas such as CLE and other services at Zonal and Chapter level are yet to demonstrate innovation and improved participation in activities. 3.	Resource Mobilization To take stock of the available Own Sources of Revenue e.g. Membership Dues, CLE, etc., and support from Development Partners.	Critical	Currently the financial situation is makes it difficult at times to carry out any sustainable or expansion activities. Part of the responsibility for the Business Development Department should be increased to add to the revenue generation and support the resource mobilization strategy.	To get the Resources Committee of the GC to review the current sources of revenue and find alternatives to boosting the situation and make is sustainable. TLS should make its Finance and Business Development activities aligned in order to boost its revenues.
4.	Professional and competent Staff: It is important to have strong business processes and procedures that can assist the Staff to maintain a high level of professionalism, adhere to business ethics and to deliver high quality and timely services.	High	The current level of the Staff is average and need additional effort for the transformation process to be effective. The lack of technical and soft skills poses a number of challenges on the business, customer experience, Chapters, sustainability, etc.	There is an urgent need to recruit some senior Managers and Staff to fill the critical positions immediately, put in proper systems, processes and procedures to make the organization be more professional.

The lack of detailed records at Chapter or Zonal level makes it highly challenging to make informed decision across a number of business areas of focus.	A dedicated team of Senior Staff should be put in place for a time to consolidate and update the reports and put the institution back on track so that GC and Management Team can make timely and cost effective decisions for the smooth operations.

Currently there is a serious need to enhance the Debt Management role to prevent further losses and Write-Offs. Chapters and Zonal levels should have their capacity built in financial and risk management.

12. Monitoring and Evaluation

Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) will be an important part of this Strategic Plan. TLS will develop a robust and rigorous monitoring and evaluation system, with constant feedback mechanism to inform Strategic Plan implementation and achievement of outcomes.

Our M&E activities will be guided by a clear Theory of Change (ToC). We will develop simple, yet rigorous set of tools to track and measure the link between inputs, outputs and outcomes of our work.

TLS M&E process will be carried-out as follows:

- Its application will be based on a realist approach which understands the complexity of development practice, seeking to assess TLS contribution in development practice rather than attribution and generating lessons about what works, what does not work and why.
- TLS will use a combined model of Log Frame Approach and Outcome Mapping (OM) to draw on the strengths of each of these models. OM is a very useful approach in line with the complex mandate TLS has and will be used as the core approach to frame M&E thinking within TLS. However, results other than the behavior and actions of boundary partners will also be tracked. In addition, most of TLS partners use of log frames in planning and reporting.
- It will incorporate many of the philosophies, approaches and methods of outcome mapping, with its emphasis on the behavior, relationships, actions or activities of the people, groups and organizations with which a development program works directly.
- It will document most significant change stories at multiple levels throughout the Strategic Plan: Finance, Operations, People and Clients
- It will adopt Overseas Development Institute five –level approach to M&E of policy influence and in particular, on law reform and policy making process

Key M&E Questions

Our M&E activities will attempt to answer the following few questions.

- Are we delivering what we said we would?
- What is the quality and relevance of our outputs?
- Are we significantly influencing the changes in behavior, relationships, actions or activities of the individuals, groups and institutions with which our development interventions work directly?

13. Conclusion

As TLS has embarked on this transformation process, it is important to monitor and evaluate the progress made. All the key priorities have been addressed in the Strategies laid down across different objectives.

While the Management Team will implement this Strategic Action Plan 2020-22, it will be the responsibility of the Governing Council and the Executive Committees to provide continuous oversight. It is advised that for the first three (3) months the Governing Council or the Executive Committees and the Chapters convene Monthly to make a close follow up of the implementation. For the remainder part of the time, the Governing Council and the Chapters can meet on a Quarterly basis to make sure that the plans are implemented fully and where not possible, either it will be carried over or deferred to a more suitable time.
